About

Gurokawa is the second set that came out of the original Mictlán sketching phase, back when everything was still just vibes and CLW drafts. It's inspired by Gurokawaii, a Japanese style that mixes cute and creepy (think Happy Tree Friends or Cult of the Lamb).

The set leans into that tension with mirrored novelties, soft pastels, and unsettling symmetry. It's also the first GMK set to feature UV-printed gradients and the first fully themeable set, letting people switch between horror and cute depending on their build. It's a set with a strong identity, and plenty of room for artisan collabs that match its creepy-cute charm.

Colors

The alpha base is the same as the Google Pixel A3 purplish.

Thank you so much for being part of this collab. Whether it's your first time working with me or you've joined me before, it genuinely means a lot.
I really appreciate your effort 🙏
